Our Unique Products and Services

Business Transformation Readiness Assessment [BTTRA]

“Evaluating capacity to deliver strategy.”

What is a BTTRA?

A Business Transformation Readiness Assessment (BTTRA) is an evaluation that measures your business's readiness to undergo transformation and change.

What we do

We deliver a thorough and objective analysis of your existing business capabilities and identify elements that can be improved to help your business position itself better for the future.

Project Health Check

“Quality assurance on demand.”

What is a Project Health Check?

It is analysis of the essential components of your project including project management methodology, progress against plan, reporting systems, quality of stakeholder interactions to determine how well it is tracking towards its stated objectives.

What we do

Our Project Health Check will inform your business of the gaps in your project's performance against stated objectives and provide recommendations for a clear and actionable way forward.

Program Management Office [PMO]

“Set-up and assurance.”

What is a PMO?

A PMO maintains consistent, best practice project management standards within your business. A well-managed PMO will identify challenges before they become significant problems, and then address them using good governance, portfolio, resource and performance management practices to improve the value of project and program delivery.

What we do

We ensure that your portfolio of projects is delivered using best practice project and program management tools, templates and procedures.

Gateway Review

“Quality assurance at critical milestones.”

What is a Gateway Review?

It is a project assurance tool that delivers short, intensive evaluations of your project at up to six critical stages or key decision points at the end of each project phase.

What we do

Our Gateway Review is an insurance policy for your project investment. It will give you confidence that your project is ready or not to proceed based on objective analysis of key performance criteria linked to the stated project objectives.

Building an Enterprise Throughput Management Office [ETMO]

“Quality projects delivered faster.”

What is an ETMO?

Our ETMO will improve the flow of your projects through a PMO pipeline leading to shorter project delivery cycles, greater optimisation of expensive resources and ultimately better value for your project and program investment.

What we do

We custom design and deliver an operational ETMO which combines best practice project portfolio management principles with Critical Chain Project Management.

Capacity on Demand®

“Smart project resource management.”

What is Capacity on Demand®?

Protegit's Capacity on Demand® is a unique service that provides you with faster access to the right expert project resources when and where you need them.

What we do

Our Capacity on Demand® service optimises the flow of skilled resources to support your project or program of work thereby reducing down-time, fixing problems faster and generating a better return on your project investment.

Strategic Guidance

“Helping define business strategy.”

What is Strategic Guidance?

Strategic Guidance is about helping develop business strategies that are clearly defined and properly aligned with your stakeholder expectations, the external environment, and current and future organisational capabilities.

Project Management

“Initiation through to delivery.”

What is Project Management?

Our Project Management services assist your business to deliver strategy through exceptional planning, execution and governance of your projects and programs from initiation through to post-implementation review.

Implementation is traditionally the most difficult part of a business strategy, and our aim is to take away the worry so that you can concentrate on what you do best.

Behavioural Assessment

“Project team competency.”

What is Behavioural Assessment?

Our Behavioural Assessments measures the intrinsic capability of your project managers and teams to deliver positive performance outcomes from your project and program investments.

What we do

We coach your key project resources to help them understand and exploit the link between superior behaviours and improved project performance.
